Caution Still Urged During Covid-19

Employees, with the amount of Covid cases continuing to rise, it is essential that you take all necessary precautions and not come to work sick. If you have been experiencing any symptoms of being sick, it is in your best interest to not be at work where you could potentially risk getting a co-worker sick. With the temperatures dropping, our immune systems are not as strong as they could be and could increase the chances of exposure. Please be mindful of your own health as well as being a potential risk to others.

Thank you in advance for continuing to do these 3 things:

1. Isolate if "slightly ill" - stay home if you have even the slightest symptom.
2. Avoid "close talking" and stay six feet away from another person's face so they don't get their spit particles on yours - wear a mask if this cannot be achieved, as it can reduce the amount of virus particles spread from a positive shedder.
3. Have "hand awareness" - wash your hands hourly or after touching anything another person has recently touched.

The JCUA offices will be closed December 24th, 25th, 31st, and January 1st in observance of the Christmas and New Year Holidays
